Does child have any health concerns that we should be aware? _____

Tuition is $340 (Includes Tool Kit) for a 10 week Wheel Class or $340 for a 10 week Handbuilding Class. Payment is required in full to register. We encourage children not to miss any classes. If a student misses a class, the class can be made up during the current semester, ONLY IF OTHER CLASSES ARE IN SESSION and tuition will not be refunded for that day. Tuition is non-refundable if student withdraws. Classes may be canceled due to holidays, instructor illness, or weather conditions. If a class is cancelled, students will be notified and class will extend another week into the semester. Please be mindful that your child is learning how to work with clay so his or her pottery pieces may break in the kiln. This is normal and to be expected. There will be no refunds or credits for pottery broken in the kiln.

Please remember that many art materials are hazardous to your health if ingested. All materials are non-toxic, but we still insist that you do not eat or drink while working. At THE PAINTED POT we have many breakables, so please be careful. If items are broken, we ask that you tell the staff immediately and have the staff clean up the broken pieces. THE PAINTED POT is not responsible for any injuries suffered from improper or unauthorized use of the materials in the studio. THE PAINTED POT is not responsible for lost or stolen personal property.

By signing this statement you agree to all of the above.
